CHAPTER XXXIX.

PENSIONS.

1. The Senate shall, after receiving and considering a report from the Finance Committee, adopt a Superannuation Scheme for the benefit of every President, full-time Professor, Secretary, Bursar, and other officer whose office the Senate may decide to make pensionable, not being an "existing officer" as defined in Section 19 of the Act:

Provided that the basis of the said Scheme shall be the following:—

- (a) The University shall set aside each year a sum calculated at the rate of ten per centum of the normal salary of each President, full-time Professor, Secretary, Bursar, and other pensionable officer, for the purpose of providing for each such officer a pension or superannuation allowance on his retirement from office, or, in the event of his death while in office, of granting, at the absolute discretion of the Senate, a gratuity or charitable allowance to his widow and children (if any) or to a near relative or near relatives immediately dependent upon him during his life.
- (b) For the purpose of calculating the said sums no normal salary shall in the case of any President be reckoned as of a greater amount than £1,200 per annum, or in the case of any full-time Professor of a greater amount than £600 per annum, or in the case of any Secretary, Bursar, or other pensionable officer of a greater amount than £400 per annum.
- (c) No pension or superannuation allowance shall be provided for any President of a greater amount than £600 per annum, or for any full-time Professor of a greater amount than £400 per annum, or for any Secretary, Bursar, or other pensionable officer of a greater amount than £150 per annum.

2. Out of the sums granted for the maintenance of the University under the provisions of the Act an annual sum of £2,500 shall be set apart and be placed to the credit of a fund, to be called the Pension Fund, for the purpose of providing the pensions at present payable to retired Professors of Queen's College, Belfast, and also the pensions that may hereafter become payable to the existing President and such of the existing Professors and other officers and servants as had a right to pensions prior to the passing of the Act, and also the pensions that may under any Superannuation Scheme hereafter become payable to any President, full-time Professor, Secretary, Bursar, or other officer whose office may be made pensionable:

Provided that the said annual sum of £2,500 may be used as security for effecting a loan for the purposes of the Pension Fund should it be necessary or expedient to do so; but the loan so effected and its accretions, if any, shall be devoted exclusively to the purposes of the Pension Fund.

3. The said annual sum of £2,500 shall continue to be set aside each year until, on the report of an actuary to be employed by the Senate on a representation from the Finance Committee, it appears that the capital sum which has accumulated to the credit of the Pension Fund so formed, including any additional sums from other sources and any accumulations of interest thereon, is sufficient to provide for the pensions which may still be payable to officers of Queen's College, Belfast, who had a right to pensions prior to the passing of the Act, or until a capital sum of £20,000 has accumulated to the credit of the Pension Fund, whichever capital sum is the greater:

Provided that, when the aforesaid capital sum has accumulated to the credit of the Pension Fund, the aforesaid annual sum of £2,500 may be reduced to such smaller amount as the Senate may from time to time determine to be sufficient.
